

A timeless pendant lamp made from volcanic rock and coated aluminium. Both materials formed into cylindrical shapes emphasize a smooth yet sharp aesthetics with a monochromatic palette of tones. The merging of finishes turns this pendant into a dark smoke delight. A sculpture on its own and a light architecture in a cluster of many.

Embodying the richness of volcanic rock texture in a simple geometrical form and accentuating the elegant lines of black powder coated aluminium. Dark toned nuances enclose the warm light cone that strikes the surface below. An enigmatic statement brought to its minimum.
